LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1867.

The Democratic State Convention of New Hampshire, which met last Wednesday, approved the following platform in favor of a National Convention, designating New York as the place, agreeing in this particular with the Convention of Connecticut. We suppose the Northern, Eastern, and Middle States, on the score of accessibility, will generally agree in the designation of New York, while the Western and Southern States, for the same reason, will generally agree in the designation of Louisville. The point is not material. No matter how the National Committee may finally determine it, the determination will be everywhere cheerfully accepted.

The platform of the New Hampshire

Convention, as expressed by the telegraph, comes fully up to the conservative view. We have no fear that any Democratic State Convention anywhere will fail to toe the mark.

"It is understood," according to a Washington despatch, "that the plan agreed on by the leaders of the imperment movement is to suspend the President as soon as the articles are preferred.

Mr. Wade stepping into his position. It is then proposed to prolong the trial until

Mr. Johnson's regular term of office shall have expired. In the mean time, the South is to be reconstructed again. This plan looks very well on paper, but it will not be apt to look so well in practice. We very much doubt in truth whether it will ever get into practice. We hope not. The whole plan hinges upon the assumption that either the President will peacefully submit to suspension or the Jacobin leaders can make him submit; but this assumption is not by any means clear from doubt. It should be clearly and wholly false.

Neither the Court of Impeachment nor Congress has any more constitutional power to suspend the President during the trial than either has to execute him after conviction or before. Nor particle. We have heretofore shown this in our columns. If it were not true, indeed, the penalty would follow the acquittal instead of the conviction, which is absurd.

The person impeached is not in fact bound to appear before the Senate either in person or by attorney. If he thinks fit, he may decline to appear at all, in which case, according to the regular procedure, his default would be recorded, and the Senate might proceed ex parte to trial.

Until convicted he cannot be lawfully im-molested in his office. Thus says the Constitution, and reason confirms it. So does precedent. Judge Chase, of the Supreme Court, who was impeached in 1805, at the instance of John Randolph, not only on the Senate of the Court pending his trial in the Senate, but pronounced an opinion in one of the cases which came up. The explicit language of the Constitution, reason, and precedent all concur in establishing the illegality of suspension during the trial of impeachment. The notion is preposterous. No respectable lawyer in the country would venture to sanction it. Besides, the present Congress itself stands reproached of illegality at the bar of the people.

Will the President peacefully submit to

"The death of Lord Saint Leonards is announced. He died, it is stated, on the 14th of last month, at the age of eighty-three.

The venerable jurist was born in London. In his earlier and his later years, he appeared as an author, filling up the middle of his life with deeds, and illustrious ones, at the bar, on the bench, in Parliyears before he was admitted to practice, he published a work entitled "A Concise

NOTICES OF THE DAT.

The opening lecture of the winter course, at the Louisville Female College (on Seventh street), will be delivered this Friday evening, at 7 P. M., by Rev. Dr. Linn.

Condensed Milk.

This article is simply pure milk condensed and concentrated with sugar. For custards, puddings, etc., it will be found very economical. Price 20 cents per can, or $2 per dozen. It costs the United States double the amount warranted to apply at the Government Store, 33 Fourth street, between Main and the river. jls d2

In order that you all may be supplied with good reading at your own price attend the sale of extensive library, Mr. W. H. H. Co., this morning. See advertisement.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Try the Condensed Milk.

It is much more economical than fresh milk. At the Government Store it can be had for half its value. For making custards, puddings, &c., it is excellent.

NOW OR NEVER. Dr. Randall cannot too highly estimate the kindness which he has experienced from his numerous patients since his visit to Louisville, nor can he but bid the grateful votaries he has received to remain a few days longer. But he must assure those persons who intend to honor him with a call that he has been solicited to use all exertion to which he must attend. To those who have not read his flattering testimonials which have appeared in the papers to the satisfaction and efficiency with which Dr. operated in the removal of corns, bunions and diseased nails, he will say his cures are reinstantaneous, efficacious and painless. Office,
